A copy of the Custody and Joint Parenting Judgment is attached hereto as Exhibit "A."

6. That on January 25, 2012, the parties agreed ██████████ would have parenting time with the minor child on February 20th and 21st despite ██████████ having said days off from work. ██████████ had previously informed ██████████ she would be travelling on said dates and the parties arranged for her to have make-up parenting time on February 22nd and 23rd. 8. That based on ██████████'s fearful ██████████ will interfere with his vacation by not returning the minor child to school on Thursday, February 16, 2012, per their regular parenting agreement schedule. ██████████ is also fearful ██████████ will interfere with his vacation by calling the police on February 21st and 22nd to report his interference with her visitation.

9. That ██████████ is therefore desirous of this Honorable Court entering an order requiring ██████████ to return the minor child to school on Thursday, February 16, 2012 at 9:00 a.m. ██████████ is also desirous of this Honorable Court entering an order affirming his vacation to Alabama with the minor child from February 17th through February 21, 2012.

10. That this matter constitutes an emergency as ██████████ schedule to leave for Alabama on Thursday, February 16, 2012.

That on Friday, February 10, 2012, [REDACTED] took the minor child from school without informing your Affiant of same and in violation of the parenting time set forth in the parties' Custody Judgment. When your Affiant called [REDACTED] to inquire as to her whereabouts she informed your Affiant, "I am taking [REDACTED] now, the court order does not apply, you are not going to keep me from my son." [REDACTED] refused to inform your Affiant of her and the minor child's whereabouts. [REDACTED] further informed your Affiant she had unilaterally determined the parenting time schedule did not apply as she was on furlough for the month of February and she intended on keeping the minor child during same. Your Affiant proceeded to call the police and make a case report. The police searched for [REDACTED] and the minor child. They eventually found her and the minor child at [REDACTED] residence at 10:30 p.m. The police retrieved the minor child and took him back to your Affiant's residence.

That based on [REDACTED] conduct, your Affiant is fearful [REDACTED] will interfere with his vacation by not returning the minor child to school on Thursday, February 16, 2012, per their regular parenting agreement schedule. Your Affiant is also fearful [REDACTED] will interfere with his vacation by calling the police on February 21st and 22nd to report his interference with her visitation.
6. That your Affiant is therefore desirous of this Honorable Court entering an order requiring [REDACTED] to return the minor child to school on Thursday, February 16, 2012 at 9:00 a.m. Your Affiant is also desirous of this Honorable Court entering an order affirming his vacation to Alabama with the minor child from February 17th through February 21, 2012.
7. That this matter constitutes an emergency as your Affiant is schedule to leave for Alabama on Thursday, February 16, 2012.

INVESTIGATION:

In summary, this investigation was initiated by Sergeant [REDACTED] star 885, who is the estrange husband of the accused Police Officer [REDACTED] star 7525. The complainant and the accused are parents of the child [REDACTED] who is the subject of a Custody and Joint Parenting Judgment Case, order [REDACTED]. Complainant [REDACTED] who is the residential parent, alleged that on 5 March 2012, at 1400 hours, the accused failed to return the child to him thus violating the order. A case report for "Child Abduction," [REDACTED] was generated. The complainant related that the accused had custody of the child from 3 March to 5 March 2012, and was supposed to return the child to him at 1400 hour on 5 March 2012, but she did not. The complainant further related that the accused did not return the child to him until 2100 hours which is in violation of the order which states that the child is to be returned no later than 1800 hours on school nights. The complainant expressed that this is an on-going pattern of behavior on the part of the accused that impacts his son in a negative way.

The undersigned obtained a copy of the Original Case Incident Report, the, Case Supplementary Report and a copy of the Custody and Joint Parenting Case, Order [REDACTED] for the investigation. The Case Supplementary Report indicated that the child was returned at 2000 hours in good health and appeared to have not been in any danger. This case was closed "Cleared, Ex-Closed (Other)."

Accused Police Officer [REDACTED] was served allegation and charges and she submitted a formal statement answering the allegation. In her statement, Officer [REDACTED] stated that she did not violate the custody order because it was a holiday, Pulaski Day, and holidays supersede weekend visitation. Officer [REDACTED] stated that this was her regular parenting day and drop off is usually in the evening hours. In addition, Officer [REDACTED] stated that she texted the complainant and let him know that she was going to be dropping the child off in the evening hours. When asked why she did not drop the child off at 1400 hours as was scheduled, Officer [REDACTED] stated that they did not have a scheduled time, she stated that she set a time and the complainant did not like that time which is why he called and made a report. Upon questioning, Officer [REDACTED] denied interfering with the complainant's visitation rights intentionally by returning her son to his father at 2100 hours instead of 1400 hours.

Based on the investigation and the evidence gathered the undersigned has determined that this allegation is unfounded. The undersigned reviewed the Parenting and Joint Custody order and found that on the date in question the accused had regular parenting time with her son [REDACTED]. Although the order does say that the child is to be returned no later than 1800 hours on a school night, of which 5 March, Pulaski Day was, it also state that each parent shall exercise courtesy and consideration in promptly advising the other when that parent will be detained or delayed in picking up or returning the minor child at the scheduled time. The accused during her statement stated that she texted the complainant and informed him when she would be dropping the child off which is in keeping with the order, also, the child was returned to his father at 2000 hours according to the Case Supplementary Report. In conclusion, the complainant knew where his child was, knew that the child was not in any danger, and was informed of the return time per the Custody and Joint Parenting Order.
